Establishes Supremacy Among Fillies in Clover Stakes at Aqueduct.

Twice the old grand stand at the Aqueduct track squeaked and groaned yesterday afternoon as it never did before It fairly rocked on its old foundations from the cheers and applause of 18,000 frenzied racegoers as Rosse O'Grady, a spirited equine miss owned by Harry Payne Wiltiney, roped home the winner of the historic Clover Stakes, and it jumped clear out of plumb a faw.

O'Grady, a spirited equine miss owned by Harry Payne Whitney, roped home the winner of the historic Clover Stakis, and it jumped clear out of plumb a few minutes later when H. C. Applegate's renowned gelding won the Carter Handlage.

Seldom if ever did such a large crowd jam its way into the little track owned by the Queens County Jockey Club, and never did equine beauties receive more glorious ovations than those which greated the victors of these classic events. Both were popular favorites, and as they came tearing down the angle of the coupled as Sacket tentry. So substitute entry.

That Old Rosebud failed to win the eveted crown of the handleap division as due solely to the absence of Harry ayne Whitney's three championship mienders, Regret, Borrow and Pennant With them out, no coronation could be held, but it was the opinion of expert turfmen that with the possible exception of the famous Whitney trio, Mr. Applegate's old gelding is the best horse in the country.

Which of the two classics was the feature or furnished the more thrills is a matter few can decide. Both furnished everything a great race can furnish and in each the best horse won. two-year-old fillies that the Amerian turf ever produced. In quest of the old and glory which goes with it, hirteen nobly bred young muses were attered. Of this number the Wickliffe

Nine in Carter Handicap.

Before the crowd had finished heaping praise on Mr. Whitney's try to do battle in the Carter Handicap over the seven furlong route. First to answer this call was H. C. Hallenbeck's blank wonder, The Finn. At his flank and showing the same spirit he dis-played as he pranced to the post last Saturday before winning the Queens County Handicap was Old Rosebud, Bromo, Mr. Whitney's chestnut colt, carrying the colors of Mr. Tampson, was third in the procession, with Richard T. Wilsen's Ormesdale, winner of the Metro-politan Handicap, next. Crimper, bear-ing the hopes and wagers of Rai Parr; Old Koenig and Ima Frank from the Stable, Pickwick, representing J. E.
